

Arolygiaeth Ei Mawrhydi dros Addysg
a Hyfforddiant yng Nghymru

Her Majesty's Inspectorate
for Education and Training in Wales

News release

6 September 2007

Opportunity to discuss education issues in Swansea

An event in Swansea will provide an insight into the challenges facing education and training in Wales.

Estyn, the education and training inspectorate for Wales, is holding a meeting at the Brangwyn Hall on the evening of Tuesday 25 September.

Estyn is inviting parents, teachers, governors and other people with an interest in education to apply for free tickets to attend. The meeting will start at 6.30pm, with refreshments available from 6.00pm.

Susan Lewis, Her Majesty's Chief Inspector of Education and Training in Wales, will outline how the inspection service works and how it can help to improve standards of education and training. She will also talk about some of the challenges faced by schools in Wales and share information about education standards in the County of Swansea.

The Estyn panel, together with representatives from the City and County of Swansea will then respond to questions on education and training issues.

Susan Lewis says: "The meeting is an opportunity to find out how inspection can make a difference. Estyn has an important role in ensuring that education and training benefits all learners, and our inspection work plays a key part in raising standards and quality across Wales.”

Those who would like to take part should apply for tickets to Estyn – giving their name, address and the name of their school – by phoning 029 2044 6464 (office hours) or email communications@estyn.gsi.gov.uk.

Notes to Editors:

- Estyn, the office of Her Majesty’s Chief Inspector of Education and Training in Wales, provides a high quality inspection and advice service.
- Estyn inspects nursery schools and settings maintained or funded by local authorities, primary schools, secondary schools, special schools, pupil referral units, independent schools, further education, adult community-based learning, youth support services, youth and community work training, local education authorities (LEAs), teacher education and training, work-based learning, careers companies, offender learning, and the education, guidance and training elements of the Department for Work and Pensions funded training programmes.
- Full copies of inspection reports are available on Estyn’s web site at www.estyn.gov.uk

For further information please contact:
Communications, Media and Marketing Team
Estyn
communications@estyn.gsi.gov.uk
02920 446464